

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

RS30003C3 / S1025

This legislation amends Idaho's law regarding marriage licensing. Currently, record of a marriage is the marriage license and return certificate filed by the county recorder. This legislation eliminates the requirement for, and replaces it with, the recording of a marriage certificate with the county recorder.

FISCAL NOTE

There is no fiscal impact to the general fund or local governments because all of the state and local fees associated with marriage licenses are still collected under this legislation, and those fees are directed to the same funds as the current marriage license fees. The dedicated domestic violence project account also continues to receive the same level of funding under this legislation.
